AGC of America Webinar: Construction Stormwater Program 10:30 a.m., Tuesday, March 2

A new rule was issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in December 2009. This rule specifies the exact types of erosion and sediment controls that contractors must use, at a bare minimum, to control stormwater runoff on all construction sites that disturb one or more acres of land. These new limits strictly enforce the amount of sediment allowed to run off any construction site disturbing 10 or more acres of land at any one time (whether contiguous or not).
