MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING
edwardjones.com

Rachel's objective is to provide financial growth and security for what matters most in life – family, health and your dreams! Money isn't everything, but it provides opportunity for the people and things that are.

As a financial advisor, she partners with people and small businesses to develop personalized strategies for retirement, investments, college savings, legacy considerations and wealth. Discussing finances and investing can be intimidating – but that doesn't mean you skip the conversation. Addressing personal financial strategies and retirement options for employees is critical. Her goal is to bridge the gap by providing comprehensive financial services that will help improve lives today and for generations to come.

Ferrellgas is a nationwide company headquartered in Missouri with local roots here in Reno, off of North Virginia Street.

Brian Segneri, local Regional Accounts Manager and resident of Reno, believes that building a well rooted network is key to success in any industry, especially propane. No matter you or your company's need of propane whether it be residential, commercial, forklifts, or temporary heating, Brian will always go above and beyond and take care of his clients.

Look no further than Ferrellgas for all your propane needs.

Please contact Brian Segneri for additional information at briansegneri@ferrellgas.com or 775-225-5339.
