Meet the team

Dave Copeland: TID Systems

A presentation and review of the mobile security units that TID Systems builds in Reno. The goal is to inform and empower local contractors with the tools they need to protect their jobsites, as well as monitor its progress.

Matt Burns: Outdoor Lighting Perspectives of Reno & Lake Tahoe

Outdoor Lighting Perspectives (OLP): Commercial & Residential low voltage lighting experts When you partner with OLP, you're getting a specialized low voltage contractor that focuses on designing, installing and maintaining a variety of outdoor residential and commercial lighting systems.

Greg Mason - the GMAA Group, LLC Digital Targeting Specialists

What is Geofencing? It's a way to fence in a geographic area, whether a building or a zip code, and can be used to identify a particular demographic, targeting them with specific digital ads for information, sales, or data building.

Who can benefit from this lunch and learn? Real Estate Brokers, Contractors, Builders, anyone looking to increase market share.

Disclaimer

Personalized and/or autographed merchandise is prohibited.

Dave's story is one of finding hope, courage, and perseverance amid dark and overwhelming uncertainty. In 1988, at the peak of his career, Dave was diagnosed with cancer in his pitching arm resulting in the removal of half of his deltoid muscle. He was told, short of a miracle, he would never pitch again. Proving the doctors wrong, he came back in 1989 to pitch a 4-3 win for the San Francisco Giants, but sadly his comeback was short-lived as the cancer had returned, forcing him to make the difficult decision to retire from baseball in November of that year.

Rather than let his experience defeat him, Dave has chosen to share his story to inspire others with the optimism and hope he discovered through his own journey.

Join us to hear Dave's motivational story of loss, heartbreak, and silver linings.
